Cycling the past to change the future:

Two supporters tackle Roman roads across the UK

Long-term supporters Malcom and Justin devised a unique challenge to raise money for Stonepillow – cycling a circuit of the UK using Roman roads as much as possible.

“We needed a significant enough challenge [and] an idea that people would find intriguing and stand out from other cycle challenges.”

“If we have made any difference whatsoever in helping Stonepillow, we will be delighted. All the hills we have endured or the slumps in energy we experienced, as well as all the effort and exertions from more people than just the two of us, will have been worth it.”

“ Homelessness should not exist in a wealthy country like ours,
but because it does, Stonepillow has to exist. ”
